My researches focused on creativity, educational Innovation and positive education. Since 2000, The Ministry of Education in Taiwan initiated a series of creativity education projects and published the White-book of Creativity Education. I involved in the project and participated the researches and practices of educational innovation.

After that, the projects of future imagination were continued to cultivate creativity of teachers and pupils. Now, I studied on the complexity in educational innovation to facilitate the evolving of educational innovation for the better future.
