

Sequin Wu

Student at University of Chicago

China

Sequin Wu is a current student at the University of Chicago. She was a student representative for the 3rd Holistic Education Awards evaluation panel in China. Sequin volunteered as an English teacher and regional coordinator for Project Volunteer Online for two years.

She helped organized and translated multiple project-based learning workshops in China from the High-Tech High School. She is keen on innovative approaches to learning and education equity for rural schools. She has been an active practitioner in youth leadership camps in China and Canada.